DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 12-20,22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for preventing hypertensive cell death in a plant with instant compounds, does not reasonably provide enablement for inducing all other disease resistance in a plant using instant compounds. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Because the number of plant diseases is numerous, it would be a big burden for Examiner to determine those plant diseases, which are controlled in instant method. For this reason the predictability in the art is high. To one of ordinary skill in the art, it would be a big job to determine which diseases are resistant in plants by the use of instant compounds. Because of this large burden (determination of which diseases are resistant in plants by instant compounds), Examiner would like to point out that Applicant would be entitled to a subgenus of what is being claimed, particularly those diseases in plants for which data provided.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ning et al (CN 1061888; 6/17/92) and Stoller (US 6086923; 7/11/00). Ning teaches composition comprising 2,4-D for preventing disease in plants. See abstract. Stoller teaches a composition comprising a copper salt for preventing disease in plants. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the composition of Ning to include the copper salt taught by Stoller. See abstract. One would have been motivated to do this since both inventions are individually to prevention of disease in plants.

Claim Objection

Claims 24-26 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The prior art does not teach or suggest the instant composition comprising ion effector, orthovandate, rose Bengal or tetrazolium redox dye.
